Savor Dallas features unique opportunity for interaction with world-renowned wine, culinary experts

January 17, 2007 -

Tastings and entertaining education events March 9 and 10

The lineup of wine and food experts participating in Savor Dallas will be quality experiences for learning what's best in wine and food in 2007.

In addition to 50-plus award-winning chefs, who will serve signature recipes at the International Grand Tasting event, Savor Dallas will feature an entertaining, information-packed experience via Tasting Seminars, as well as in a dynamic Celebrity Kitchen to be hosted on March 10.

"We are thrilled with the star lineup we have for Savor Dallas 2007. No other 2007 wine and food event in the United States is bringing together the quality of presenters in one place the way that Savor Dallas will," said Jim White, co-founder of the popular international celebration of wine, food, spirits and the arts that will be hosted for the third year on March 9 and 10. "The design of the Savor Dallas event allows attendees the chance to ask questions and visit one-on-one with the experts, from vintners, to chefs, to artisan producers.

Savor Dallas' 2007 Tasting Seminar stars include Tony Abou-Ganim, the Modern Mixologist, who is featured on Fine Living's "Raising the Bar: America's Best Bar Chefs," is one of the beverage industry's major innovators and leaders. Based in Las Vegas, Tony designed the cocktail program for the world-famous Bellagio resorts, and continues to be one of the most influential sources for ideas and creativity for the world's leading restaurants. At Savor Dallas, Tony will be conducting a seminar based on his new DVD series, "Mix it Up: Making Great Cocktails at Home" in the Ghost Bar.

Gina Gallo, Gallo Family Vineyards winemaker and grand-daughter of the legendary Julio Gallo will headline a special "Meet the Winemakers" panel moderated by Master Sommelier Guy Stout, director of education for Glazer's. Stout also hosts another exciting seminar at Savor Dallas featuring "90 Point PLUS Wines" to explain why they're rated so high and what to buy.

Another Savor Dallas star, Doug Frost, is one of only three experts in the world to hold both coveted titles Master Sommelier and Master of Wine, a remarkable distinction. Doug brings fun and a Latin flair to Savor Dallas with his tasting seminar "Vino Latino," presenting the most exciting wines happening in the Spanish speaking regions of the world.

According to USA Today, "Frost likely knows as much as anyone in the world about how to make, market, serve and identify wines." "The Wine Diva" Christine Ansbacher, Certified Wine Educator and Author of "Secrets from The Wine Diva" will present "KISS Wines (Keep It Sexy and Seductive)" to make any occasion romantic with seductive red wines.

Charles Curtis, Master of Wine and Director of Wine and Spirits Education for Moët Hennessy USA will present "In the Pink with Great Champagne," showcasing the magical flavors of premium rosé champagnes and sparkling wines, the most popular drink in today's top restaurants.

While the tasters are sipping, The Viking Range Celebrity Kitchen at Victory Park Plaza will feature high-energy demonstrations from top chefs performing in a state-of-the-art professional kitchen from Viking and the Milestone Culinary Arts Center in Dallas.
